Lecturer Roy W. Battenhouse To Speak at Collegeville Oct. 1

Dr. Roy W. Battenhouse, English professor at Indiana university, will open a new annual lecture series at St. Joseph's college, Wednesday, Oct. 1 with an address on "Catholic Theology and Shakespearean Criticism." The lecture will be Dr. Battenhouse's last American public appearance before sailing for England Oct. 10 as a 1958-59 Guggenheim Fellow at the Bodleian Library at Oxford.

The lecture will be the first of four to be given by visiting scholars at St. Joseph's during 1958-59.

Studied On Ford Grant

Dr. Battenhouse, who has contributed a number of articles on Shakespeare to various learned journals, has been at Indiana since 1950. During this time he was an editor of and contributor to "A Companion to the Study of St. Augustine" published by the Oxford University Press in 1955, and was also a contributor to "Spiritual Problems in Contemporary Literature" (1957).

In 1954-55 he did advanced study at Princeton university on a Ford Foundation Fellowship, and last spring was a visiting scholar in English at Hanover college.

20 Years In Teaching

A graduate of Albion college (1933) and Yale, where he received the B.D. and Ph.D. degrees in 1936 and 1938, Dr. Battenhouse taught English at Ohio State university from 1938 to 1940.

For the next six years he taught Church History in the School of Religion at Vanderbilt university, where he also published "Marlowe's Tamburlaine" (1941).

Member Of 4 Societies

From 1946 to 1949 he was an associate professor of Church History at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass., and the following year he was a Reader at the Folger Library before moving to Indiana university in 1950.

He is a member of the American Society of Church History; the Modern Language Association; the National Council on Religion in Higher Education; and the Conference on Science, Philosophy and Religion.

Next Lecture Oct. 30

The lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Merlini Lounge. All students are strongly urged to attend and to take part in the discussion following the lecture.

The second lecture in the series, to be given by Professor C. Joseph Nuesse, dean of the School of Social Studies at the Catholic University of America, is scheduled for Oct. 30.

Mr. Farrell Directs

Professor Nuesse will speak on "Social Mobility and Religion in the United States."

The last two lectures will be held during the second semester. The series is under the direction of Mr. James T. Farrell, assistant professor of English.

Sophs To Free Freshmen On Sept. 27

The '58 freshman class will officially remove their beanies Saturday, Sept. 27, as initiation comes to an end. At this time the sophomores will sing a special song in honor of the freshmen's newly gained freedom.

It brings to a close the contingent of sophomore activities for the freshmen.

During these days of initiation the freshmen were bell hops for the returning sophomores, engaged in a mud game near Halas, and also a tug of war across the pond.

Signs were made by all the freshmen and worn at the first home game. A game of follow-the-leader-over-the-campus was another initiation requirement.

A kangaroo court, with chairman Bob Kasky presiding, judged and sentenced all freshmen who had disobeyed initiation rules. Committee members Bob Gallagher and Joe Curry supplied the 50 pound cake of ice used for the witness stand.

With initiation concluded, the 1958 freshmen will look forward to next year when they as sophomores will initiate the new freshmen to the ways of college life.

26 Earn Spots On Dean's List

Twenty-six students merited places on the Dean's List for the marking period June, 1958. Heading the list with perfect 4.00 indexes (all A's) were senior Joseph Kovitch and juniors James Blanz, George Borge, James Caswell, and Raymond Krizmanic.

Others who achieved the required index of 3.50 or higher are: seniors David Carey, Leroy Ellgass, Robert Jansen, John Neff, Robert Newett and Walter Rossmanith; juniors John Bellucci, Joel Carlson, Edward Duffy, Charles Faucher, Joseph Lambke, William McCrea, Edward Starshak and Mrs. Ruth Yeoman; and sophomores John Brennan, Russell Dhooge, James McCauley, Daniel Murphy, Charles Myers, James Sullivan and Paul VanMeter.

10 New Pros Swell Faculty To Record 75

Ten new and two returning faculty members have helped swell the St. Joseph teaching staff to a record 75. Five of last year's faculty have either departed or taken a leave of absence.

Fr. Gilbert Esser has been transferred to Dayton, Ohio where he will be chaplain at the Motherhouse of the Sisters of the Precious Blood. Fr. James Hinton has left for new duties at Viterbo college in LaCrosse, Wis. Mr. Peter Holub, assistant professor of English, took a position at Tri-State college in Angola, Ind., while Mr. Dale O'Connell, former basketball coach, is now head football coach at Penn Township high school in Mishawaka, Ind.

Fr. Klopke on Leave

Fr. John Klopke, instructor in philosophy, has left on a leave of absence to ... the University of Toronto. Returning this year from leaves of absence are Frs. Ernest Ranly and Donald Ballman. They are instructors in philosophy and geology respectively.

Joining the faculty for the first time this year are: Fr. Rudolph Bierberg, Mrs. Francis Dance, Francis Duggan, Daniel Lyons, John Phelps, Donald Prullage, Curtis Stanley, Allan Tward, and Mrs. Donald Prullage and Mrs. Elizabeth James.

Mr. Dance From Northwestern

Fr. Rudolph Bierberg, an instructor in religion, received his S.T.D. from Catholic university and previously taught at Marion college in Fond du Lac, Wis.

Francis Dance received his M.A. from Northwestern university in 1953 and has spent the last five years there on a teaching fellowship while working for a doctorate. He is an assistant professor of speech at St. Joseph's.

Lyons Teaches Philosophy

Mr. Francis Duggan, who is now serving as an assistant professor of English, received his M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1950. He formerly taught at Chestnut Hill college, Philadelphia, Pa. He is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree at Pennsylvania.

Daniel Lyons, M.A., formerly taught at the Dominican college of St. Thomas in River Forest, Ill., before coming to St. Joseph's as an instructor in philosophy.

New Accounting Prof.

John Phelps, assistant professor of politics, received his M.A. from the University of Chicago and he is a candidate for a Ph.D. there also. He has been working for the government's Central Intelligence agency for the past seven years.

Donald Prullage is an instructor in mathematics. He received his Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1958. Curtis Stanley was on a teaching fellowship at the University of Michigan before coming to St. Joseph's as an assistant professor of accounting. He has an M.B.A. from Michigan, where he is also a candidate for the Ph.D.

Allan Tward taught at the University of Illinois on a teaching fellowship after receiving his M.B.

Starting this year and for each succeeding year there will in effect be two Homecoming dances on the St. Joe campus, although they will not be designated as such. The first one, to be held this year on Saturday, Oct. 18, will be limited to seniors and alumni.

The second dance for juniors, sophomores and freshmen will be held this year on Saturday, Nov. 1. Vets may attend either dance but may not attend both. The dances will be held in Raleigh hall, the student activity center.

Decorations For Alumni

As was the case in the past, many of the traditional Homecoming activities will be retained on the day of the alumni-senior get-together.

Each hall will have an opportunity to display an appropriate Homecoming decoration. As a prize, all the students of the winning hall who attend the junior, sophomore and freshman dance on Nov. 1 will receive a substantial reduction in their ticket to the dance.

New Prom Plan Too

Fr. John Lefko, treasurer of the college, and the senior class will sponsor the alumni-senior dance and the other social events of the day. Sponsorship of the junior-sophomore-freshman dance, (it is as yet unnamed) will be entrusted to the sophomore class.

Also in the future, only juniors and seniors will be admitted to the annual spring Prom. A week prior to the Prom, the freshmen and sophomores will have a Frosh-Soph Hop.

More Details Later

All these changes were adopted at the Student Council meeting on Thursday, Sept. 18. The Council's action came as a result of the college's request to put these changes into effect.

Further details on these two dances will be announced in the next issue of Stuff.

Record 977 Students Open '58-'59 at St. Joe

Enrollment at St. Joseph's college reached the 977 mark with the opening of the 1958-59 school year. The figure established a record for the sixth consecutive year, topping last year's record of 901.

The 977 total includes 367 freshmen, 585 returning students, and 25 transfer students. The 392 freshmen and transfer students fell short of the record 411 new students admitted in 1955.

75 Faculty Members

Residence students comprise 93 percent of the total enrollment, while the remaining seven percent are day students. Fifty-five seminarians who are studying for the priesthood in the Society of the Precious Blood are also included in the total enrollment.

The number of faculty members also reached a new high of 75, including 41 priests of the Society of the Precious Blood and 34 lay men and women.

The new record in enrollment was made possible by the addition of Gallagher and Halas halls, which were completed this summer and dedicated on Sunday, Sept. 7. The opening of the new halls made room for new classrooms and faculty office space in Science hall and the Administration building, which were abandoned as student residences.

Urges Responsibility

The school year officially opened with a Solemn High Mass in the fieldhouse on Thursday evening, Sept. 11. The Very Rev. Raphael

SJ Coffee Hour To Resume Nov. 3

The Faculty-Student Coffee Hour, begun last year, will resume Monday evening, Nov. 3. These informal discussions will continue until the Easter recess. The sessions will be held in Raleigh hall with coffee supplied by the school.

Fr. Ernest Ranly is the faculty member in charge of the Coffee Hour. The steering committee consists of juniors Bill McCrea, Ronald Urban, and Bernard Stukemborg.

According to Fr. Donald Shea, coordinator of student affairs, the period between the first week in November and the Easter recess was chosen because "these months seem to be the most favorable and offer the least competition."

Gross, president of St. Joseph's college, celebrated the annual opening Mass. He was assisted by Frs. Donald Ranly and Aloysius O'Dell.

In his traditional opening message to the student body, Fr. Gross pointed out that each student is a member of the "intellectual apostolate" and that the responsibility of achieving a respected place in society rests with the individual student.

2nd SJ Mixer This Weekend

This coming weekend, Sept. 27 and 28, the St. Joe campus will play host to another group of feminine guests. Approximately 250 girls from Mundelein college in Chicago and St. Francis college in Joliet are now packing their bags in preparation for the weekend.

As last weekend, these girls will help cheer for the Pumas in Saturday's football encounter with the Tigers of DePauw university. After the game there will be a mixer in Raleigh hall, the student activity center.

New Chow Line Cards - - Fair Cafeteria System

Each year as the upperclassmen return in September it seems as though there are always some changes on the Collegeville scene. This year was no different and, as last year, the changes in the college cafeteria were among the most noteworthy.

Let's take a few minutes to explore the reasons behind the most recent cafeteria changes.

Primarily, there is only one basic reason for new cafeteria policies. The administration felt that in justice they were obliged to make a distinction between boarding and non-boarding students.

Other than this, the new system which is slowly working itself out offers more advantages than the average student realizes.

From a statistical point of view it affords a more efficient method of determining the number of meals served on a particular day. By virtue of this the cafeteria staff can more effectively plan its meals and service.

Furthermore, the new system was designed to eliminate the dreaded enemy of the Pumaville chowline known as the "lineeasher."

Student criticism of the new system indicates that the two most objectionable features are the presentation of the identification cards at every meal and the difficulty of returning for second helpings.

These matters are only a result of the original intention. As far as the first objection goes, St. Joseph's is not the only college or university which follows such a system. Moreover, this system was not thought up over night.

In answering the second objection it goes without saying that those who have not eaten deserve a chance to go through the line without interruption. Second helpings are denied to no one if he waits his turn.

That briefly is the situation. Before making any judgments, remember that the increase in college enrollment necessitated some revision of the previously existing cafeteria system. Any increase in population generally means a little more control in any society.

Let's give the new cafeteria system a chance and try our utmost to go along with the changes without unwarranted condemnation. Only time and our cooperation can measure the system's effectiveness.

Letters to the Editor

Oh, Mr. Gallagher Set Us At Ease!

Dear Editor,

What is it that a man likes most when he is tired after a hard day's work? It's to sit back in an easy chair and relax.

Much to our surprise we found that when we stepped into our rooms in new Gallagher hall, which we thought would be luxurious complete with plush wall-to-wall carpeting, television, bar, and Duncan Fife furniture, we had no easy chairs. (We had them in Noll).

We seniors of first floor Gallagher are not getting any younger and the easy chair is mighty comfortable at times.

We're not expecting Stuff to start any crusade or anything but at least it could ask Mr. Gallagher or someone else to get us some easy chairs.

Respectfully yours,
Seniors of First Floor

Let's Get St. Joe Back in NFCCS

Dear Editor,

Four years ago St. Joseph's college was a very active member of a national organization called the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

This organization is the only form of unity between Catholic colleges in the United States. Its purpose is to afford students from many different colleges an opportunity to meet and discuss projects and activities together.

Through these discussions members are able to gain valuable help in coordinating their own projects to meet with success as it might have been found in some other college or university.

Members of NFCCS also meet in various workshops to discuss national events, Catholic lay organizations available after college, and many other things by which the college student might develop himself socially and intellectually.

At various intervals throughout the school year, workshops are held in different locations which are attended by the member colleges of that region.

Work is not all the NFCCS does. At practically every one of their meetings some social gathering is held to give the delegates an opportunity to meet each other on an informal level.

Since the entire national organization is too large to meet more than once or twice a year, its members are broken down into regional groups. St. Joseph's, a non-member, is in the Fort Wayne region, which includes such schools as Notre Dame, St. Mary-of-the-Woods, Nazareth college, St. Mary's college at Notre Dame, Aquinas college, Marian college, and others.

In the past St. Joseph's has often played host to members of this organization. A member of the St. Joseph's faculty has been moderator of the Fort Wayne region since 1953.

I am sure that it was found nothing but a benefit to this college to belong to this national federation. Due to what has been termed poor leadership in the St. Joe group, the Student Council voted, by a very close margin, to withdraw from the NFCCS.

I sincerely believe that this move has been detrimental to our college in the eyes of other members, and mainly for our own sakes.

Now I wonder if it would be possible for our Student Council to look into this organization again, recognize its benefits, and possibly obtain a group of interested students to attend a conference in Fort Wayne next month.

In this way they could study the value of St. Joe teaming up again with its neighboring Catholic colleges and those all over the nation in a unified body of discussion.

I, for one, am very interested and am willing to work on this matter if there is an interested group of Pumas who will help me.

Sincerely,
Jerry Mauch

Pep Rally Spirit Sadly Disgusting

Dear Editor,

I have just come from the most disgusting example of school spirit since I have been attending St. Joe. I am talking about the pep rally held last Friday evening in preparation for the N. E. Oklahoma game.

There was a tremendous turnout on the part of the team. The freshmen kept up the tradition of being the best supporting class. As far as the upperclassmen were concerned, the faculty outnumbered them.

If an outsider had witnessed the rally, he would have gotten the impression that St. Joe were the "chumps" of the conference instead of the champs.

I actually wonder if the student body realize how much the coaches and the team sacrifice to give the school a good team and a championship.

With all the time the fellows spend on the practice field and watching movies at night, it is tough for them to make their grades and yet they manage to do it for us.

When you see Ed Labbe and Ray Regner limping around, remember they received their injuries representing the student body, not themselves. Those who know Les Klein know that when he runs he is not running for his personal glory.

And how about all the other fellows who,

What Do You Think?

by Jim St. Amour

The late fall and winter schedules in the nearby larger cities and colleges are offering a number of musicals, theatrical productions, exhibits, lectures, and sports events. Would you be interested in attending some of these on student trips? Could you suggest a plan by which such activities could be organized and carried out?

Joseph Clune, senior, Gary, Ind.

My answer to the first question is a definite "yes." The organizing of these trips should not be too great a problem, because last year I attended "No Time For Servants" at Purdue university. This was a student trip and it was no different from any of the student trips to the St. Joe football and basketball games.

Reviews At Random

by Charles Faucher

When one thinks of the holocausts of the Inferno Wars of this century, there is almost always implied the concept of the "mass": Genocide, wholesale destruction, great chunks of the population obliterated, the suffering of the entire human organ; the accumulation of the starvation cry for bread, an orphan's breathless gasp of a world snatched away; the propoundment of an infinity of hurts, multiplication and consequent projection—rubbing into the wound.

Anne Frank was a part of this whole, and through her we may individualize and specify the more authentic tragedy the World Wars precipitated. This girl and her deeply introspective and reflective diary have brought to focus the plight of the German-Jew during the Hitlerite racial-superiority campaigns of the war years. But more important than this, it has shed much light on the tragedy of the individual exposed to these tactics. It is the individual that suffers; this is not a community effort.

Presupposed here is some knowledge of her story and of the "Secret Annex" in which the Franks and another family were imprisoned for the bulk of two years. Anne Frank was 14 at the time of her entrance into seclusion, precocious both emotionally and intellectually. She addresses her parchment ally as "Dear Kitty," and under this art-friend is revealed her tale.

The constant pressure and emotional strain of being discovered by the SS Troops, the monotony induced by the same "greedy" faces, the routine, the uncertainty of Allied liberation; despairing screams of fellow Jews not in hiding being dragged through the night, the thunder of Allied warplanes, the shriek of air raid sirens; all these factors sift through the very conscious mind of Anne Frank.

She yearns for human birthrights—freedom, expression. But she is confined. The Winters bring cold ("... if only a blue sky,") the springs warmth and vitality ("... to run with the smells of spring.") and all seasons bring isolation as more and more contacts with the exterior are severed. There is privation everywhere—physical, yes; but more vital to her, intellectual and emotional. Her estrangement becomes acute, and she communicates with the patch of blue sky above the garret window.

This then is tragedy, and the primal tragedy of any war. Physical privation is but brutish, and can be resolved by similar means. This is something that seems to be borne with an amount of stoicism, almost disjoined from the being of the sufferer.

Can we say the same for intellectual and emotional want? Can we equate the tragedy of Anne Frank with the circumstances noted above?

The downtrodden race, the condemnation of the totality of a person because of his religious adherences, the desire of freedom frustrated, the bitter ache not to be appeased.

The seed of creative ability, readily apparent in Anne Frank's diary, was never brought to flower. A short while after she concluded her story, the occupants of the "Secret Annex" were detected, herded and shipped to a German concentration camp. Here Anne Frank, perhaps 17, died.

despite injuries, have tried their best to make you proud of your team, guys like Huhn, Bates, Williams, Deem, Mueller, and all the rest.

For all the team is doing for us they are getting a lousy return of gratitude. All they want from us is a sign that we appreciate what they are doing.

All it takes is a half hour of our time on Friday nights at the pep rallies. If we can't do that much for them, then we should not expect them to win any games or a championship for us.

Roger Thomas

The procedure is simple. Find out who wants to go, get the tickets, arrange transportation and you're set. The trouble will be in finding the student or students who will go through the trouble of arranging these trips.

Roger Thomas, junior, Detroit, Mich.

I truly believe that the student body would be very enthused about supporting sponsored trips for good entertainment. Many of the fellows would enjoy the opportunity to see a Bear game, jazz show, or a legitimate play.

Howard Dewes, senior, Dyer, Ind.

I would be interested in attending events on the cultural and educational level offered at places other than St. Joseph's, provided the conduct of the students of St. Joseph's on these student trips would be becoming of adults.

Since I believe it is the duty of this institution to provide for the cultural, educational, and recreational needs of its students, I think it should incur the expense of such activities.

Ralph Tomlin, junior, Peoria, Ill.

I would like to attend some musical or theatrical events at some of these nearby larger cities and colleges. I am a band member and therefore enjoy good music.

I can offer no plan by which such activities can be organized and carried out better because I have not attended any of these events in my first two years. I have not known about these events except by a small note in the daily bulletin.

I think that if these events were published and backed by school organizations St. Joseph's could be well represented and it would be a very enjoyable trip.

Alan Purcell, sophomore, Oregon, Wis.

I certainly would be interested in attending some of these events on student trips. While attending events of this type, the St. Joe student would gain both culturally and entertainment-wise.

Such a plan would present to him some of the opportunities available to students in the larger cities and colleges.

Possibly one of the clubs or the Student Council could undertake the sponsorship of these events as part of its program.

Jim M. Ardle, freshman, Chicago, Ill.

I think that this is a wonderful idea and one that interests me very much, but at the moment I have no idea of how such a plan could be worked out.

College to Hold Reception For Parents On Sunday

St. Joseph's will hold its annual President's and Faculty Reception, sponsored by the Parents' club, for the parents of all St. Joe students, this Sunday, Sept. 28. This reception will provide the parents with an opportunity to meet the faculty and administration who are shaping the future careers of their sons.

The reception will be held in the fieldhouse, starting at 2 p.m. and lasting until about 5. The Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, President of St. Joseph's, will deliver a speech, after which the parents will have a chance to meet their sons' teachers.

Buffet Supper Served

Tables will be set up on the basketball court of the fieldhouse at which members of the six divisions of instruction (Religion, Philosophy, Humanities, Natural Sciences, Social Sciences, Business and Economics, and Education) will greet and friends of St. Joseph's students were in attendance.

The parents were cordially invited to this year's Reception by a personal letter from Fr. Gross, who expressed the desire on his part, and on the part of the faculty to meet and talk with the parents of St. Joe students.

The program will also include a presentation by the college Band, Glee club and Columbian Players dramatic group. A buffet supper will be served.

Fr. Otte To Be M.C.

The parents will also have a chance to watch the ICC champion Pumas open the defense of the title they have held for the past three years, when they meet De Pauw on Saturday, Sept. 27 on the St. Joe field.

Fr. Joseph Otte, moderator of the Parents' club, will act as master of ceremonies for the Reception.

Invitation From President

In the previous six years, the reception was held at Chicago's Del Prado Hotel. Last year, about 150 mothers, fathers, guardians by Tim J. Sullivan Jr.

Collegeville Confidential

Summer school was over. The Sisters and the delegates to the various conventions were gone. Out between Noll and the Power House, the busy hum of power saws, banging boards, shouting men, and clanking bulldozers died away with a sigh as the new halls neared completion. The Bears left for areas where they could meet other behemoths and prove that last year was a fluke. The campus shook off its dust (with the help of Bro. Larry), and settled down for a week or two of quiet.

Suddenly, with no warning, a crowd, seemingly destruction-bent, looking wide-eyed at the buildings, and carrying suitcases, came into view. The sleeping buildings stirred, and settled back, figuring it was a crowd of "townies" coming to see if the "Pencil Heads" were back.

There was only one thing that the buildings missed. These guys were future "Pencil Heads," and should have been recognized as such. One would think that buildings as old as the ones around here would be able to recognize freshmen when they saw them.

The fieldhouse was the first to be struck. Parents and students charged in, littering its floor, scuffing its bleachers, and dirtying its canvas. Then the various residence halls were struck. Drexel, Seifert, Merlini, and the Power House were hit, and inundated.

For a short period of time, things were comparatively quiet. And then, Thursday came. And, with Thursday, came another crowd carrying suitcases and looking at the buildings. Only, to these guys, the buildings were old stuff. They had seen them before. In fact, they had seen them many times before. These guys were the upperclassmen, back from a summer of fun, fun, fun. Fun, such as getting up at noon, going out after a leisurely breakfast, and looking for a job. Fun, such as standing in the line in the Unemployment Compensation Office for that weekly check. Fun, such as worrying about where to get beer money. Fun, such as listening to "the girls" complain because they couldn't be taken nice places. Nice summer, all in all.

And so, everyone was glad to get back. Glad to get back to the same round of study, sleep, and complaining that has gone on every year since the first Puma entered, probably on foot, past the pond.

Even though this year there is a subtle change taking place, (not too subtle in some places), we can still be sure of one thing—the Pumas are going to goof, and someone is going to tell us about it, and you'll see your name in print. Just remember . . .

Gallagher & Halas Halls Open With Dedication

St. Joseph's college reached another milestone Sunday, Sept. 7, when the two new student residence halls were officially dedicated.

Participating in the ceremonies were the two men after whom the identical residence halls were named, Robert A. Gallagher of Indianapolis, president of the Indiana Public Service Company and chairman of St. Joseph's Board of Lay Trustees, and George S. Halas, owner and coach of the Chicago Bears and also a trustee.

Banquet In Cafeteria

The Most Rev. John Carberry, Bishop of Lafayette, blessed the new halls. Dr. Tom Jones, retired president of Earlham college, gave the principal address at the banquet following the dedication ceremonies.

The ceremonies began with an academic procession to the college chapel where Bishop Carberry had Benediction at 4:30 p.m. The procession then proceeded to Gallagher and Halas halls for the dedication of the buildings.

Included in the procession were the members of the Chicago Bears, who have practiced at St. Joseph's college for the past 15 years. The Bears, dressed in caps and gowns, marched in tribute to their owner and coach, George Halas, who also received an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree from the college.

Mr. Gallagher also received a similar degree several years ago. Following the dedication the college hosted all the guests at a banquet in the college cafeteria at 6:00 p.m.

Year In The Making

The two three-story brick and curtain dormitories, which were financed by a government loan of $680,000, house 124 students each. The halls were designed by Frank Fischer, A.I.A., Rensselaer and Chicago architect, and constructed by the Wilhelm Construction Company of Indianapolis. The buildings were begun in July, 1957.

Men and Issues

by Pat Lavery and Tom Page

This is the first of a regular series of interviews with staff and faculty members on topics of significant and current interest to the student body.

Question: What are St. Joe's chances of winning the ICC title this year?

Coach Jauron: Not too good. St. Joe has an outside chance to win the title, but the team is not really as strong as it has been in the past. We have lost 19 lettermen from last year's team. All our experienced quarterbacks (Tite, O'Brien) are gone. Players like Romo, Osgood, and Homerding, upon whom we were heavily counting, failed to return this semester. Also 12 of last year's most promising freshmen are no longer with us. It's hard to lose 30 players and not be hurt.

Question: What about the possibilities for next year?

Coach Jauron: The situation will get worse.

Question: Why?

Coach Jauron: Because we have no freshmen football players moving up to replace the players who graduate this year. (Ed. Note: In a recent questionnaire, 52 freshmen have indicated a desire to play varsity football.)

Question: Why are there no freshmen football players?

Coach Jauron: Because with the raise in tuition there was no raise in the allotment for scholarships. Therefore, we couldn't grant any freshmen scholarships. Eight of the boys who had planned to attend St. Joe are now at Big Ten schools.

Question: How many football scholarships were granted this year?

Coach Jauron: 27.

Question: How does this compare to the teams with which we compete?

Coach Jauron: Xavier grants 60 scholarships. Butler has 42 full scholarships plus 27 part ones. Valpo, DePauw, and Evansville all grant more scholarships than we do.

Question: How does a football team benefit St. Joe?

Coach Jauron: A good team is necessary at St. Joe as a morale factor. Also football has helped to spread the name of St. Joe and to enhance its reputation. I feel that a proper balance between football and academics is of great benefit to the school.

Fr. Eilerman Takes Over Business Post

Fr. William Eilerman, instructor in accounting, has succeeded Fr. Paul White as business manager of the college. The appointment will extend for three years. Fr. White, instructor in economics, will concentrate on teaching.

Fr. Paul Weller, superintendent of buildings and grounds, has been appointed purchasing agent for the college, a post also held by Fr. White.

Vets To Sign For GI Bill

All veterans who are eligible for GI Bill benefits are to sign up for allotments between Oct. 1 and 5. Fr. Charles Robbins, registrar, will have the necessary forms and these forms are to be signed during the same period each month.

Payments should begin on Oct. 20. New veterans, however, should not expect their allotments until at least Nov. 20. Veterans are reminded that attendance cards are made out after classes have been attended for a monthly period.

Between The Lines

In recent years, our northern neighbor, Chicago, has undertaken a campaign of civic improvement on a grand scale. A lot of money, effort and publicity has been poured into the process of making Chi. the City Dynamic. For that matter, the entire Midwest is engaged in making wholesale improvements and reappraisals.

Not to be overlooked in the grand scheme of improvement is our own tight little community of Collegeville. Or hadn't you noticed? St. Joseph's hasn't built any sprawling residential units, but it has invested thousands of dollars in the construction of two new halls and the modernization of the Rec hall and the cafeteria.

The college hasn't dug elaborate underground garages for the motorized element on the campus, but is has provided adequate parking lots in the last two years and has put in decent road illumination. And let's not forget that a lot of work has been put into making this campus the most beautiful in this part of the country, putting green and all.

Coincident with the Big Change at St. Joe is a new evaluation of Stuff's policy. In the past, this paper has received a fair amount of criticism. Some of it has been undeserved, mainly because the particular criticism stemmed from a lack of real understanding of the ethics and unwritten laws of journalism that any newspaper—be it a college bi-weekly or big city daily—must observe in the handling of news.

On the other hand, Stuff has been guilty and justly accused of certain glaring faults in its coverage of local news. The most grievous of these was that Stuff just "wasn't with it." In other words, much of the news published was "dead" news, news that everyone knew beforehand without having to see it repeated in the pages of the paper. In general, Stuff was sadly lacking in student interest.

This year, Stuff is trying to regain that lost interest. To do this, the paper has asked for the cooperation of the college faculty and staff in giving its reporters first crack at all pertinent campus news the minute it is available for release. Stuff will try to get the news when it's hot.

Stuff will give precedence to stories that will break in the future, rather than devoting a lot of space to events a week, or two weeks old. The staff will try to anticipate as accurately as possible important events that will effect the students socially and academically. Spontaneity will be the key to operations.

In addition, Stuff will try to dip deeper into the main current of campus thought through the use of regular student interest features. A new personal interview column will be a regular feature, and Stuff will continue to carry the opinions expressed in "What Do You Think?"

The "Letters to the Editor" section will provide any reader a chance to air his views in print, if those views are at all constructive. A bulletin of coming events will be printed in every issue so that the reader will have an advance calendar of future school happenings.

As St. Joe builds a bigger and better college, Stuff will try to keep pace by printing a better and more interesting paper.

Puma in Peril

Halfback Les Klein, the only Puma to dent consistently the N.E. Oklahoma line, here finds himself captive of a Redman.

Xavier Hands 8-0 Loss To St. Joe in '58 Opener

by Mike Goldrick

The Pumas inaugurated their 1958 football season by tasting defeat once again at the hands of the Xavier Musketeers. The game, played at Xavier Sunday evening, Sept. 14, snapped a Puma victory string of eight for the second year in a row. The score was 8-0.

The Pumas showed a stout defense throughout the game by continually stopping the Muskies cold. The Joemen were forced to rely on their defense almost entirely.

Klein Leading Ground Gainer

The big Xavier line jammed up the usually potent Puma ground game repeatedly during the contest. In the final analysis St. Joe was held to a meager 97 yards rushing.

Of these 97 yards, Les Klein and Mike Murphy gained 73. Klein was the leading ground gainer for the Joemen with 42 yards in 10 carries.

Penalty Halts March

The Pumas received the opening kickoff, and on the second play from scrimmage lost the ball on a fumble. The Puma defense stiffened and they regained possession on their own 19. Here they launched their only concerted drive of the game.

With a series of line smashes the Joemen ground their way to the Xavier 30 where an illegal procedure penalty on a third-and-three situation stalled the march. After this the game became a standoff until late in the third quarter.

Drive Stymied

The Xavier scoring drive began on a 30 yard punt return which proved to be the spark that ignited the lifeless Muskie offense. The boys from Cincinnati covered 50 yards in seven plays with quarterback Bill Kasper going over from the one. Kasper added the extra points on an end run.

Varsity Views

by Tom Donahue

"We took a terrific physical beating," Coach Jauron said when asked to comment on the Xavier game. "Xavier had two veteran units and we didn't. If you can't pull the boys out and give them a rest, you're bound to suffer those injuries." He added that he was pleased with the defense in the Xavier game and singled out Ray Regner, Tom Huhn, and Chuck Spielman as standouts. "Our sophomores made a few mistakes on defense, but that's going to happen."

Whether the Pumas have a good season or not seems to hinge on two things: injuries, and how fast the sophomores develop. Ed Labbe is out with a knee injury suffered in the Xavier game and probably won't see any action for two or three weeks, if then. Regner injured his leg in the Xavier game, and Hank Alesia is hampered by a shoulder separation.

Couple these injuries with the loss of backs like Hamman, Fingerhut, Romo, and Daigle and you can see the problem it presents. Backs like Murphy, Klein, Deem and Spielman have returned, but they can't be expected to go at top speed for 60 minutes; they need rest. Mike McGovern has looked good at quarterback, but he lacks that all-important experience. Not that Spielman is an experienced quarterback, but he has two years of college football under his belt.

Larry Williams has shown that he can run, but he, too, needs experience. Veterans on the line like Huhn, Cote, Bates, Regner, Alesia, and Labbe comprise a strong forward wall, provided that their injuries straighten themselves out. Behind these veterans there is a large crop of sophomores to fill the gaps and furnish the reserve strength.

Greg Jancich, ace right hander of the Puma mound staff for the past four years, leaves for Marine boot camp this week at Parris Island, S. C. Greg is going in on the six month program, so he'll be out in time to resume his minor league training in the spring.

N. E. Oklahoma Capitalizes On SJ Errors, Wins 25-14

by Jim Moyer

A determined Northeast Oklahoma State football team upset St. Joseph's college Pumas in impressive fashion Saturday, Sept. 20, 25-14. The loss marked the first home-game defeat for the Joemen since November, 1955, and also the first time since 1952 that the Pumas have lost their first two games.

Taking advantage of the sluggishness and fumbleitis of the St. Joe eleven, the Oklahoma squad struck for two quick touchdowns in the opening quarter.

DiBuono Scores For Pumas

Flashing a pair of passing halfbacks, N.E. Oklahoma scored on a three-yard pass from halfback Dan Smith to Bob Jackson. The extra point placement was missed. Then, after recovering a Puma fumble on the St. Joe 19, Jackson passed to end Charlie Moore for another tally. Frank Phelps' place kick made it 13-0.

The Joemen, finding their machinery hard to get rolling, scored with less than two minutes before the half. They traveled 64 yards in seven plays, with sophomore fullback John DiBuono crashing the last five yards. Les Klein cut through tackle to add two.

2 St. Fumbles Costly

The second half saw the Pumas fumble the game away as two more bobbles led directly to Oklahoma's last scores. A recovery fumble on the St. Joe 44 set Jackson up for a rumble of 16 yards to home visitors, 249 yards to 153. The Pumas also had an edge in first downs, 16 to 7, but the loss of the ball via five fumbles and three pass interceptions was virtually the story of the game.

Intramurals

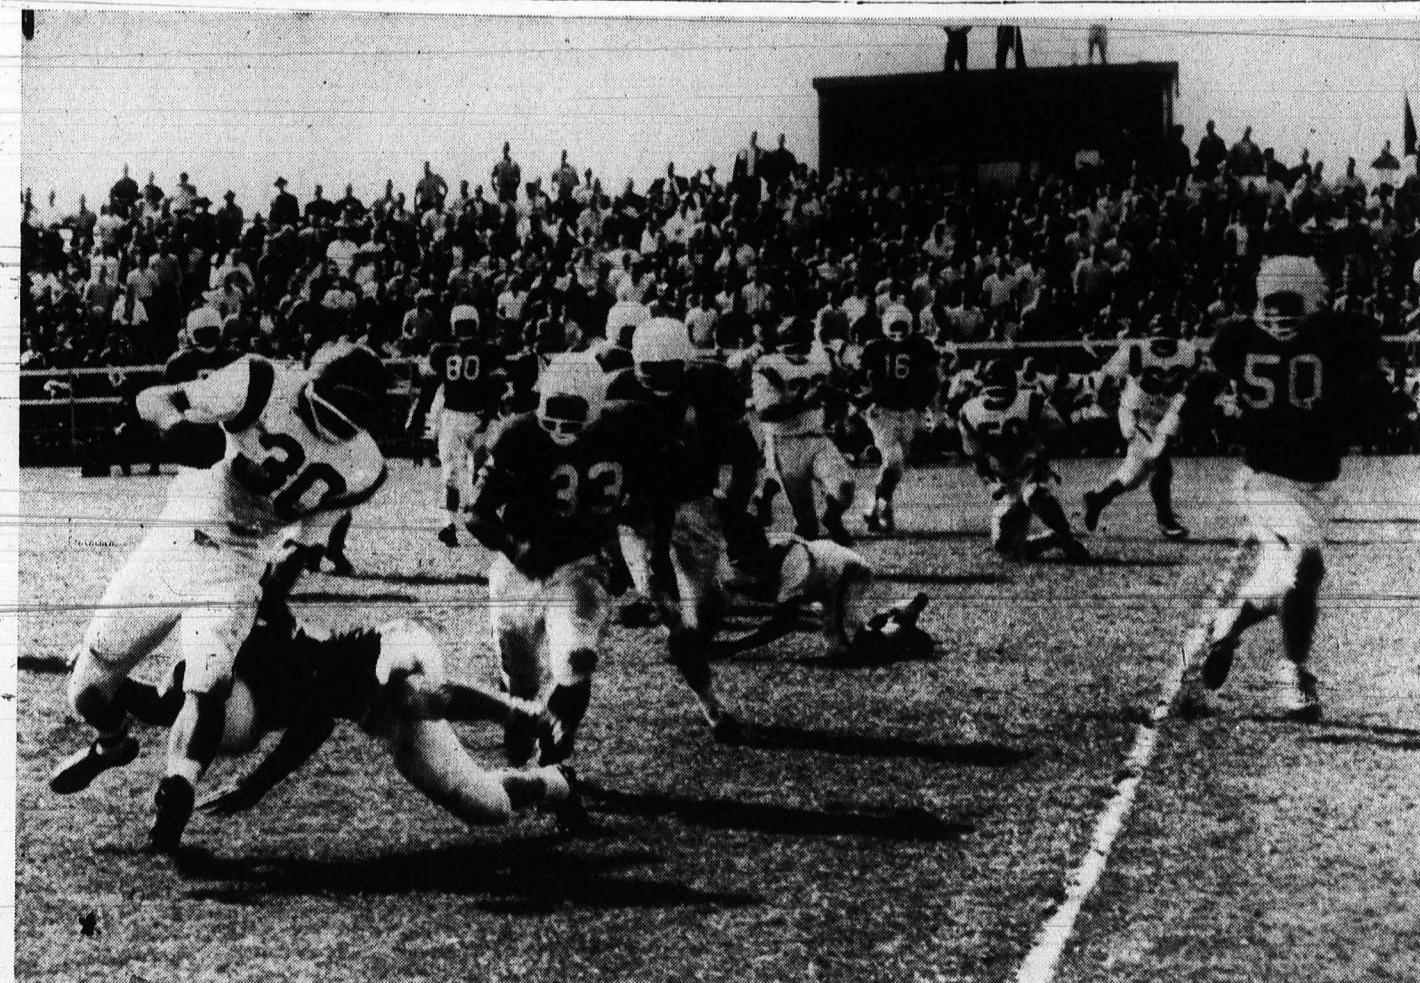

by Mike Goldrick

The 1958-59 intramural season is opening with a large fall sports program. Heading this list of fall sports is touch football. This sport is always popular on the St. Joe campus. Back from last year are the champions, the 7-7's. They will be trying to capture something that has eluded the senior class for the last eight years, that being the school football championship. It has become almost a jinx. It reached a high point last year when the Bennett Gamokes (now departed) undefeated thru two seasons, were conquered in the championship game in the final 14 seconds of play.

Also back from last year are the Overtakers, now juniors, residing in Noll hall. It is interesting to note that the football championship has gone to a Noll hall team for the last three years. As for the sophomores and the freshmen, it will be interesting to see which name will become common to them.

The rest of the fall sports program consists of tennis (singles and doubles), golf, horseshoes (singles and doubles), handball and paddle ball. You can register for these sports at the I.M. office in the fieldhouse.

The race for the all-sports trophy will be the same as last year. Points will be given to each hall on entries, championships, firsts, seconds, thirds, and fourths. At the end of the year the points will be totaled and the hall having the most points will have its name inscribed on the plaque in the Rec hall.

St. Joe's big fullback, Mike Murphy, shakes off a N.E. Oklahoma tackler and rumbles to one of the Pumas' 16 first downs. Murphy showed no ill effects of the injury which sidelined him for half of the 1957 season.

St. Joseph's Pumas will open defense of their ICC crown when they entertain the Tigers of DePauw university on the Collegeville gridiron Saturday, Sept. 27. The game will mark the ICC opener for both teams.

The Joemen will be out to tame the Tigers for the fifth time in five meetings. The visitors from Greencastle, who gave the Pumas their closest ICC contest last year, have only 12 returning lettermen.

Move Tallman to End

The loss of Morrie Goodnight, the nation's most accurate small college passer, constitutes a large gap to be filled in DePauw's offense. Senior Terry Himan and sophomores John Rubush and Jim DeArmond are pushing hard to land the starting berth in the vacated quarterback slot.

In the line, all-conference tackle Dwight Tallman, a 6-5, 245 pounder, has been shifted to end to take advantage of his height for pass reception. One of last year's starting guards, 200 pound Dick Cross, will man Tallman's tackle spot.

Bulldogs 2nd in '57

The following Saturday, Oct. 4, the Pumas will journey to the Butler Bowl in Indianapolis for their second conference tilt of the season. The Bulldogs boast a power-packed lineup of 18 returning lettermen.

Coach Tony Hinkle has 25 returnees from last year's squad which finished second in the ICC with a 7-2 record. Two-thirds of the squad is composed of juniors.

Moses Fires 10 TD's

Hinkle's main concern is the lack of steady ends. John Harrell, ranked as one of Butler's finest wingers is gone. His running mate, hometown boy Ken Spratz, is back at end for his third varsity campaign and figures to be the Bulldogs' number one receiver.

Heading the returning lettermen are Kent Stewart, who led Butler backs in rushing, quarterback John Moses, who tossed 10 TD passes, and Little All-American guard Paul Furnish.

Club News

The St. Joseph College Glee club will open its 1958-59 season on Sunday, Sept. 28, when the "Singing Seventeen" will entertain at the annual President's and Faculty Reception of the Parents Club on the St. Joseph campus.

In the Glee club's first meeting of the year, held Monday, Sept. 15, President Edward Knight introduced the club officers—vice-president John Christen and secretary-treasurer Tom Lewis—to the 40 new members who were officially welcomed into the club.

According to an announcement by club director Bernard Qubeck, the highlight of the year will be a two-day conference and festival of the Indiana Catholic College Choral Association which will be held on the campus of Saint Mary-of-the-Woods college in Terre Haute, Ind., in April.

Anyone interested in joining the club may submit an application to anyone of the club officers.

The Lake County club wishes to invite all students from the Lake County and Calumet area to join and take an active part in the social events sponsored by the club during the year.

Students are to watch the daily bulletin or this column for further details concerning club activities.

The History club of St. Joseph's college has set Tuesday, Sept. 30, as the date of its first meeting of the school year. This will be an organizational meeting in which the dates for possible field trips to the Chicago Historical Museum, the Indiana Legislature, and the Little United Nations Assembly will be determined.

The club plans to have members of the History department as speakers at subsequent meetings.
